

Terms and Conditions for Membership in Créateurs Design Association (CDA)

Welcome to the Créateurs Design Association (CDA). These terms and conditions outline the rules and regulations for membership in our association, fostering a community of creativity and professionalism.

1. Data Management and Usage

1.1. Personal Information Consent: Membership requires your consent to collect and use personal details such as your name, company affiliation, contact information, and visual likeness for association-related activities.

1.2. Database Rights: CDA diligently manages a proprietary database where your membership data is securely stored. The association holds exclusive rights to this database.

1.3. Data Integrity: We are committed to maintaining the integrity and security of your personal information within our database systems.

2. Confidentiality and Information Sharing

2.1. Selective Disclosure: While your information is primarily for CDA's internal use, it may be shared with fellow members or disclosed when legally mandated.

2.2. Compliance with Laws: All data sharing and dissemination adhere strictly to prevailing data protection and privacy laws, ensuring your information is handled responsibly.

3. Visibility and Representation

3.1. Directory Listing: Your professional details may be featured in CDA's Member Directory, accessible on our website and other official publications, unless you expressly opt-out in writing.

3.2. Promotional Use: CDA may, at its discretion, use your photograph or likeness for member newsletters, community communications, and promotional endeavors during your affiliation with the association.

4. Liability and Accountability

4.1. Waiver of Claims: Acceptance of these terms includes a waiver of all potential claims against CDA and its representatives, safeguarding the association from liability related to your membership.

4.2. Indemnification: You agree to indemnify and hold CDA harmless against any legal claims or disputes arising from your activities within the association.

5. Membership Conduct and Ethics

5.1. Professional Conduct: Membership is a testament to your professional achievements and ethical standards. It requires adherence to our community's principles of respect, confidentiality, and integrity.

5.2. Community Guidelines: As a member, you commit to:

- Respecting all community members in interactions and forums.
- Upholding the confidentiality of information shared within CDA.
- Avoiding any form of unsolicited solicitation within the association's platforms.

6. Acceptance of Terms

6.1. Informed Consent: Your application for membership signifies your informed consent to these terms. We encourage a thorough review to ensure alignment with our community's standards and expectations.

6.2. Amendments and Updates: CDA reserves the right to revise these terms. Continued membership after such changes constitutes acceptance of the new terms.

7. Membership Modification

7.1. Termination Rights: CDA holds the right to terminate membership based on a breach of these terms or any other justified reason, ensuring the integrity and professionalism of our community.

8. Legal Framework

8.1. Governing Law: These terms and conditions are governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of Texas, United States. This ensures that our legal framework is clear, consistent, and aligned with the principles of the jurisdiction in which our association operates.

Closing Statement

Becoming a member of CDA is a step into a community dedicated to excellence in design. By agreeing to these terms, you commit to upholding the standards and values that define our association. For any inquiries or need for clarification, our doors are always open for communication.
